and special protection. We Educate, Rehabilitate and Care for the street children, Even with the introduction of free primary education, access to it education is still remains a pipe dream to many Kenyan children. Whereas the introduction of free primary education saw an increase in the enrolment, a sizeable number of children, especially girls still find themselves out of school owing to a number of reasons. Our main aim in our street ministry is to help the street children achieve their dreams which seems to be lost, we give them hope that one day a good Samaritan will assist them to get Education and the basic needs such as food, shelter and clothing. For those who are over 18 years we identify their talent or interest and we help them in starting a business when we get funds. a business that they will start in order to help themselves. We don't give them money because they will indulge themselves in social crimes such as drug abuse, but we help them to save money and invest profitable and legally businesses through these they become accepted in the society.

God bless you for your contribution in making the world better and spreading the Gospel of Christ Jesus. AMEN

STREET OUTREACH

we extend our hands by sharing food and the bread of life which is the word of God with the street children we also take them to one of the Nakuru field to play soccer. We normally have a total of around 20 street children both boys and girls. Sometimes former street children who are already in school are invited to advice the street children and give them hope that one day they will also get someone to educate them, they are also given a chance to give testimonies which challenge the street children by showing them that they too have a chance to be saved. Violence against girls as well as women remains a persistent problem that takes many forms, including sexual exploitation and abuse, rape, incest, prostitution, child pornography, trafficking, and harmful traditional practices such as female genital mutilation. Statistics reveal the urgent need for action Overall, girls' school attendance still lags severely behind that of boys. One of the major reasons why so many girls do not attend school is because of their workload, both within and outside the household. Daughters are often kept at home to help the family because the social and economic value of educating girls is not recognized. It is a little known fact that among the world's exploited child workers, girls outnumber boys. Without access to education, girls are denied the knowledge and skills needed to advance their status. By educating girls, societies stand to gain economically. In addition, educated mothers usually have smaller families, with healthier and better-educated children.
